

Navigation pane on the left side of the window.

Main content area on the left containing a list of items, possibly a file explorer or search results.

Main content area on the right containing a list of items, possibly a file explorer or search results.

Section header for the right-hand content area.

Main content area on the right containing a list of items, possibly a file explorer or search results.

